

When young children learn through doing there is an awesome opportunity for reflection! Use this example of a learning reflection to guide conversations with young children and allow them to reflect on their learning. One of the top elements of empowered learning is the capacity of our kids to use feedback effectively. Start now in preparing them to do so! Have kids circle or use stickers to mark their answers when going through this reflection independently (when possible) or with the help of an adult.

Learning Reflection

How did I do my work today?	Alone	With Other(s)
Did I try my hardest?	Yes!	I could try more!
What skills did I use today?	Writing Drawing	Reading Building	Counting Solving	Patterns Other (note in narrative)
Did I figure something out?	Yes	No
Did I do something I have never done before?	Yes	No
Did I need to try again?	Yes	No
What did I do? (note in narrative)
What did I learn about? (note in narrative)
What do I want to try to do better? (note in narrative)

Copyright 2019, Early Learning Alliance Network This is being provided under a creative commons license. Feel free to adapt this (when citing our organization as the original author), however this cannot be used for commercial purposes without written approval of our organization.